

MC Airport receives award from FAA

16 HOURS AGO

MASON CITY | The Mason City Municipal Airport has received a Medal of Excellence Award from the Federal Aviation Administration for having a "discrepancy free" inspection for the ninth consecutive year.

In addition, the airport will receive an FAA Airport Safety Enhancement Award at an aviation conference in Kansas City in September.

"It is very difficult to accomplish this year after year," said Airport Manager Pam Osgood. She credited the airport staff for the efficiency of the day-to-day operations. David Sims is the airport operations supervisor.

"North Iowa Air Service is to be commended as well on assisting the airport in ensuring proper fueling operations are in compliance," she said.

North Iowa Air Service provides passenger service to Chicago and St. Louis

-- John Skipper